

---

CONTENTS

---

List of Illustrations		vii
Acknowledgments		ix
INTRODUCTION		1
CHAPTER 1	Dickens, Thackeray, and “The Language of Radicalism”	13
CHAPTER 2	The Aesthetics and Politics of Caricature: Bleak House , Little Dorrit , and Vanity Fair in Relation to “Radical Expression”	36
CHAPTER 3	Re-Visioning the City: The Making of an Urban Aesthetic from Hogarth to the Stereoscope	65
CHAPTER 4	Novelizing the City: Bleak House , Vanity Fair , and the Hybridizing Challenge	94
CHAPTER 5	Radical Culture, the City, and the Problem of Selfhood: Great Expectations and Pendennis	116
CHAPTER 6	Working with Fragments: Our Mutual Friend as a Reflection on the Popular Aesthetic	141
Notes		163
Bibliography		177
Index		184

---